

I do not feel that the consumer should have to suffer for this. I have a HDTV system and I don't think its fair that I would have to buy another piece of hardware to still receive the same signal. This really needs to be rethought.